

The attempt to limit freedom of speech with regards to satellite radio. Anticompetitive legislation barring satellite radio companies from using their own repeaters to offer local programming would be a tragic blow to the freedoms afforded to the American people and their ability to choose that they wish to listen to.